

Early 19th century silver and crystal candy dish, swan and dolphin

Era: Early 19th century.

Materials: crystal, silver.

Dim: H 11.02in. (28 cm) / W 6.67in. (19.5 cm).

Weight: 550g (without glass)

Silver mark ET for foreign work (Germany).

Fleur-de-lys crowned.

Drageoir or candy dish in silver and crystal cut called "diamond tip" slightly flared. The collar is openwork and presents a decoration of palmette. The body of the drageoir is decorated with dolphin motifs backed by a palmette motif surmounted by a shell. Two handles decorated with foliage ending in a nest and birds. The lid is of a round swan forming the finial. The drageoir rests on a pedestal and a quadrangular base ending in four ball feet. We can form a pair with a similar drageoir.